

AccountMate Version 12 Releases With Seamless Integration With TaxJar Sales Tax Capabilities

February 8, 2021

PETALUMA, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--AccountMate Software's President and CEO, David Dierke, announced that an upgraded AccountMate 12 for SQL has launched. He said that, "Although there are many impressive enhancements in this latest AccountMate 12 for SQL version, we are extremely pleased to announce the seamless integration that has been achieved between TaxJar and AccountMate. With this tight integration, our clients can be provided with accurate and instant sales tax calculations and reporting as well as an automated sales tax management process."

There are many other high-visibility enhancements in this AccountMate 12 version upgrade. Some of these include email direct deposit pay stubs to individual employees which has been a needed addition since this recent pandemic requires a lot of employees to work from home, an address validation feature, the ability to adjust unit costs of specific serial numbers without affecting the other units' costs, and the ability to configure signature settings based on check amounts.

The majority of the impressive number of enhancements that have been introduced in AccountMate 12 for SQL were a direct result of suggestions from our AccountMate Solution Providers and their clients.

The AccountMate ERP software system includes over twenty modules that can be purchased separately. With the option for clients to add solutions from highly-recognized vertical partners, this makes the AccountMate system expandable to handle many industry-specific requirements. David Render, Chief Operating Officer, says that this opportunity "offers our clients the capacity to scale their AccountMate software to adhere to their own management demands and meet escalating company growth challenges."

The release of AccountMate 12 for SQL is an ongoing effort on the part of AccountMate to include features that aim to assist clients in gaining additional efficiencies and functionality. It also demonstrates AccountMate's consistent effort that is necessary to keep loyal customers.
