

SwiftCount by AIS

Product Description

Improve speed and accuracy in warehouses that are organized by item, by sales order, by palette or by job number—whether high volume items, custom-built components, raw materials or finished goods. Go from minutes to seconds when processing items for orders.

With the proficiency of getting information faster, improving accuracy, and lowering labor costs, it overall provides efficiency operationally. Everyone on the account can get an on-hand count and see whether items have been received, picked and shipped. The ability to respond to problems proactively can result in spending a company’s time in another area needed.
